

Begin by bringing your attention into your body Feeling the weight of your body Push down through your feet Connecting yourself with the floor in the present moment

Scan across your body and notice any tension Take a moment to loosen the tension, to relax Let your shoulders be soft Be aware of your whole body, as best you can in this moment

Now focus on your breath

Take a few deep breaths

Connecting yourself with the rhythm of your breathing Bring your attention back to your workstation

Created by Dr Julie Highfield @DrJulie_H

www.ics.ac.uk