

ICU Nurses

Nurses play a very important role in caring for critically ill patients. ICU nurses are highly specialised, educated and trained healthcare personnel who undertake complex work utilising critical thinking, crisis management, and situational awareness to provide nursing care to patients with life-threatening illnesses. They'll be found by the bedsides of patients keeping a close eye on them.

They work very closely with patients and as part of a diverse multi-professional team they ensure each patient gets the care they need when they need it. They will also often liaise with the family, friends, and loved ones of their patients.

Intensive care nurses are highly skilled and very well trained, and intensive care units could not function at such a high level without them.
